

The Next Wave, a program for young professionals

Breakout Session: 1230–1400

The afternoon session enhances the level of interaction among the attendees by involving them directly in dialogues on various industry-relevant topics. There will be 25 unique discussions facilitated by industry experts, giving attendees the opportunity to share best practices, brainstorm solutions, discover resources, and address current issues and trends with peers from around the world.

Topic
Discipline cross-training (courses and assignments)
Cost-benefit analysis of MBA degree
Leveraging an MBA for a non-technical career in a technical industry
Accelerating your individual leadership potential (mentoring, training and experience gathering)
Advanced technical degree: general
P.E.- What do I need it for?
Mentoring programs: company training and what is available
General Mentoring
General Mentoring – Early Career
Navigating new career paths

Developing Managerial Career
Developing Technical Career
My career path: super major or smaller independent-which is best for me?
Developing a successful business development career
Recognizing when it is time to change jobs
Work/life balance
Growing your global network
Environmental initiatives in the oil and gas industry
Renewable resources and my energy industry career
What can I expect from different world energy hubs?
The oil and gas industry's image and what I can do to improve it
Women in the oil and gas industry
Managing Overseas Assignments
Communicating Across Generations
Career options in the oil industry – Operator, Contractor, service company, etc.